STATS Turf Flat season gets underway at QIPCO Guineas Festival

Newmarket's QIPCO Guineas Festival which begins on Saturday, 2 May, will be the first in a series of high-profile Flat racing festivals to benefit from TurfTrax Sectional Timing and Tracking System (STATS) coverage this season.

The announcement follows a joint commitment by Channel 4 Racing, Newmarket Racecourses, Goodwood Racecourse and York to provide the service.

Racegoers, television viewers and sectional timing analysts can look forward to enhanced information from Newmarket's July Festival Meeting, the Qatar Goodwood Festival, The York Ebor Meeting and Dubai Future Champions Festival at Newmarket in the autumn in addition to the Guineas Festival, with other key race dates likely to be added later in the year.

TurfTrax Managing Director, Mike Maher said, 'After a busy season on the all-weather at Lingfield and recent success of the Horse Tracker App at Aintree, we are looking forward to being back at Newmarket for the first of at least three visits this season. I am delighted that the racecourses and broadcasters have come together to ensure that racegoers and viewers can have access to STATS data for some of this season's most important and valuable races.'

STATS has become an established feature at the home of the QIPCO Guineas Festival where much of the system's early development took place. Michael Prosser, Head of Racing, Jockey Club Racecourses East Region said, 'Newmarket racegoers have become accustomed to seeing the speed and positions displayed on screens around the course and I am pleased that they, together with those watching at home will again have the opportunity to make the most of this cutting edge technology at Newmarket Racecourses.'

The TurfTrax data will be displayed live on Channel 4, Racing UK and on Newmarket racecourse TV screens with each broadcaster being able to tailor the live output for their audience. Post-race data will be made available on the Newmarket and TurfTrax.co.uk websites and distributed to the BHA Handicappers and Timeform amongst others to be used as part of their detailed assessment of horse performance.
